Beginning Teacher Support Program Standards

Overview

Standard 1: Systematic Support for High Quality Induction Programs – This standard is designed to promote the commitment of all stakeholders in seeing mentoring and induction programs succeed. Key program elements include the creation of an institutional plan, demonstrating institutional commitment and support and principal engagement.

Standard 2: Mentor Selection, Development, and Support – This standard articulates the process and criteria for mentor selection, discusses mentor roles and responsibilities, and delineates foundational mentor training. Key program elements include mentor selection, defining the role of mentors and mentor professional development.

Standard 3: Mentoring for Instructional Excellence – Mentors are given protected time to provide beginning teachers with support to achieve success in the areas set forth by the North Carolina Professional Teaching Standards. Key program elements include providing time for mentors and beginning teachers, ensuring mentoring is focused on instruction and addresses issues of diversity.

Standard 4: Beginning Teacher Professional Development: Professional development is provided to beginning teachers that orients them to their new career and supports their efforts to meet the North Carolina Professional Teaching Standards. Key program elements include structured orientation to school site and professional development designed to meet the unique needs of beginning teachers and aligned with the North Carolina Professional Teaching Standards and the North Carolina Teacher Evaluation System.

Standard 5: Formative Assessment of Candidates and Programs – New teachers and mentoring programs are monitored and supported using a formative assessment system to guide their work. Key program elements include formative assessment systems and program evaluation.
Standard 1: Systemic Support for High Quality Induction Programs

The commitment of all stakeholders, beginning teachers, mentors, faculty members, school level administrators, district-level administrators, school boards, State Boards of Education, Department of Public Instruction, post-secondary education institutions, professional organizations to the effectiveness, sustainability, and success of the mentoring and induction program is felt system-wide. Stakeholders foster a climate that values the support of beginning teachers through mentoring and induction and promote conditions for high quality mentoring and induction by evaluating, designing, and revising related policy and practices. Stakeholders support ongoing program improvement and accountability through multiple processes including data analysis and program review.

The leadership of the principal is instrumental in ensuring the success of mentoring and induction program at the site level. Principals establish and maintain a positive school environment that supports mentor-beginning teacher interactions and targeted professional development. Principals provide clear and consistent communication to staff regarding the role of mentor and the multiple facets of mentoring, including the essential component of confidentiality.

- Principals respect the nature of the mentor’s relationship with the beginning teacher.
Standard 2: Mentor Selection, Development and Support

The selection of well-qualified mentors is essential to creating mentoring and induction programs that support beginning teacher development, teacher retention and improved student learning. Selection criteria are developed through interaction and collaboration with a variety of stakeholder groups. Selection criteria are well-defined, explicit and clearly communicated to all stakeholders by program leadership. The application, interview and selection processes are transparent and uniformly implemented.

The wide range of roles and responsibilities of mentors are clearly defined and broadly communicated to all staff. The initial role of mentors is to assist in the orientation of beginning teachers to the induction program and to their school. At this time mentors often provide logistical and emotional support. Throughout the year mentors work with beginning teachers during and after school to promote growth along the indicators defined in the North Carolina Professional Teaching Standards, the North Carolina Teacher Evaluation System and to ensure quality student learning.

Mentors are provided a formal orientation to the induction program and foundational training in mentoring before they work with beginning teachers. Following formal training, mentors will participate in ongoing professional development and in facilitated professional learning communities of mentoring practice to refine mentoring skills, advance induction practices and improve student learning.

2a. Mentor Selection

• Mentors have opportunities to participate in professional learning communities of mentoring practice.
Standard 3: Mentoring for Instructional Excellence

Effective mentor-beginning teacher interactions and relationships are at the core of a successful mentoring and induction program. Program, district and site leadership collaborate to ensure that sufficient time is provided for mentors to meet with their beginning teachers to engage in the improvement of teaching and learning and induction-related activities both during and outside of school time.

The North Carolina Professional Teaching Standards and the North Carolina Teacher Evaluation System is the comprehensive guide used by all teachers, mentors and beginning teachers to advance practice and student learning. Mentors are regularly present in the classrooms of beginning teachers to observe and to strategically collect data on management, instruction, and student learning. Mentors and beginning teachers collaboratively analyze observation data, develop next steps and together monitor results in an ongoing process designed to continuously improve teaching and learning.

Mentors support their beginning teachers to appreciate the wide-range of assets that all students bring to the classroom through their diversity. Mentors guide beginning teachers in the development of positive, inclusive and respectful environments that support learning for a diverse student population. Mentors and beginning teachers design and implement a broad range of specific strategies designed to meet the diverse needs of their students and promote high levels of learning.

- Mentors utilize the North Carolina Professional Teaching Standards and the North Carolina Teacher Evaluation System to guide, refine and deepen their work with beginning teachers across the full range of teaching practices.
- Mentors make classroom observations to support beginning teachers in developing effective classroom management, lesson planning and instruction.

3c. Issues of Diversity

Key Features:

- Mentors support beginning teachers to appreciate diversity and to create a respectful environment for a diverse population of students.
- Mentors support beginning teachers to design and implement instruction that meets the diverse learning needs of students.
Standard 4: Beginning Teacher Professional Development

Beginning teachers benefit most by participating in professional development that is targeted to meet their needs as novice instructors. To meet the needs of beginning teachers and promote their successful entry and engagement in the school community, principals ensure that beginning teachers receive a structured orientation and often provide a school handbook with detailed explanations of school policy and procedures.

Ongoing professional development is tailored to meet the needs of beginning teachers and scheduled before the start of school or soon thereafter. Provision is made to support late hire beginning teachers to receive information provided at site and district professional development. Professional development for beginning teachers is aligned with the North Carolina Professional Teaching Standards and the North Carolina Teacher Evaluation System.

4a. Beginning Teacher Professional Development

Key Features:

• Beginning teachers participate in a structured orientation to their school.

• Beginning teachers participate in district-wide professional development designed for beginning teachers prior to the start of the school year or soon thereafter.

• Professional development for beginning teachers is aligned with the North Carolina Professional Teaching Standards, the North Carolina Teacher Evaluation System and takes into account the unique needs of beginning teachers.
Standard 5: Formative Assessment of Candidates and Programs

The system-wide use of the North Carolina Professional Teaching Standards and the North Carolina Teacher Evaluation System provides standards-based aligned descriptions of practice and expectations for beginning teacher development. Mentors utilize the language and expectations of these foundations in the use of formative assessment tools for ongoing collaborative data collection, analysis, reflection and implementation of next steps to improve beginning teacher practice and student learning.

The North Carolina Mentoring and Induction Program Standards form the basis on which individual mentoring and induction programs are assessed. District mentor program leaders and stakeholders partner to design a reliable infrastructure to support the collection, analysis and use of standards-based data to promote continuous high quality program improvement. All stakeholders work together to mediate challenges to program improvement and to advance positive impacts and successes of mentoring and induction programs.
