Barton College

2012 - 2013

Overview of Master's Program

The Master of Education in Elementary Education program at Barton College provides for the continuing education of Elementary level teachers who have previously completed initial preparation programs and who hold a teaching license in Elementary Education. It is intended to be a practitioners' master's program that recognizes the specialization of teacher leadership through classroom practice. We have designed our M. Ed. program in ways that allow us to remain committed to the four components of our conceptual framework - knowledge of content, pedagogical skills, cultural responsiveness, and leadership skills - and the attributes of shared leadership that we wish to foster in our teacher leader candidates while incorporating our focal 21st century knowledge and skills, and reflecting the guidelines from the State Board of Education related to the North Carolina Graduate Teaching Program Standards and all descriptors of these standards

Special Features of Master's Program

The M.Ed. in Elementary Education is designed for teachers who already hold a valid North Carolina teaching license in Elementary Education and have some teaching experience. The program is designed to help practicing teachers build on their knowledge and experience, as they take their knowledge and skills to a new level. Much reflection is involved as they learn and grow in their professional roles. This program is primarily cohort based, with a new cohort beginning each summer. The duration of the program for each cohort is 15 months, with 13 semester hours delivered in face-to-face instruction during the first summer of the program, another 7 hours delivered in an online format in the fall semester, an additional 6 semesters delivered in an online format in the spring semester, and the final 10 hours of coursework provided in a face-to-face format during the second summer. The plan is for a new cohort to begin each summer. The first cohort began in June 2010. Twenty-two of the original twenty-four cohort members completed the process and graduated on August 12, 2011. A second cohort of 15 students completed the program in August of 2012. A third cohort of 12 began the program in June of 2012, and 10 are on track to complete the program in August of 2013, along with one student from a previous cohort. Some flexibility has been added to accommodate the needs of students who need longer than 14 months to complete the program. Thus, this M.Ed. program is comprehensive and very intense in nature. The candidates have reported that the bonds they create during their first summer are very valuable in helping them continue their professional development. The program ends with a culminating experience in which the candidates share their action research projects with each other and with invited members of the professional community, including colleagues at area schools.
